May Meeting

Product Management is the New Business Analysis

More and more, Agile is being adopted for projects and software development.

Many organizations are calling upon Business Analysts to step into Product Owner and Product Manager roles. Will you be ready for this next step in your career? Come to this interactive session to explore the role of the Product Manager and understand how this can be the next evolution of the Business Analyst. You will understand the shift in mindset needed to be successful as a Product Manager and learn how you would need to adapt.

We will have a short presentation, and also have a panel discussion with professionals who understand what it takes to make the shift to Product Owner roles.

needed to critically solve these challenges and create sustainable solutions to save or influence lives and transform systems.

We will look at the Three Step Process to link analytical thinking and problem solving with some of our biggest challenges.

Presenter

Darren Tipton has spent his adult life volunteering and serving others. He is the founder and CEO of a volunteer-driven humanitarian organization, Project Humanity. He has inspired and trained thousands of volunteers on how to take their marketable skills and talents to leave a lasting contribution that matters. Now, he brings the unique DNA of humanitarian service and infuses it into the for-profit setting, debunking the myths around service, and embracing the idea that no superhero exists to save us, apart from our own commitment to being good globally-minded citizens.

Core Team signup

Would you like to get more involved with the Chicagoland IIBA Chapter but don't know how? Maybe you have only a little time to give but you aren't sure how to help?

You can find out how you can help with Chapter programs by investing one hour a month and join the Chicagoland Chapter Core Team.

The Core Team works together to plan and deliver Chapter meetings and other Chapter activities. We usually meet the third or fourth Wednesday of the month, 6:30 - 7:30 pm, via a dial in web meeting.

If you attend, you can share your ideas and help the Chapter grow. You will also be able to volunteer for various activities as we discuss them or just learn about what is going on. As a regular participant in the Core Team you will be eligible to claim CDUs so you can keep your IIBA Certifications current.

We'd love to have you! We will have a sign-up sheet at each Chapter meeting on the Registration Table.

Ambassador Program

The IIBA Chicagoland Chapter Ambassador Program is designed to improve chapter outreach through the recruitment of individuals within companies willing to distribute chapter news and other valuable Business Analysis resources to their colleagues.

Once each month, you will receive an email with an attached document of IIBA news and events. We ask that you share the document with other BAs on your team and any other interested parties. Content will include a description of the next chapter event, noteworthy offerings from the parent organization, and other resources and opportunities selected by the chapter as worth sharing with our members.

Our goal with the Ambassador program is to improve visibility into chapter activities through more formal lines of communication as we become a more influential resource for Chicagoland BAs. We also hope to learn more about your organization and what is important to you and your colleagues.

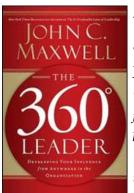

For more information, contact Greg Kulander at programs@chicago.iiba.org.

The 360 Degree Leader: Developing Your Influence from Anywhere in the Organization

John C. Maxwell

The reality is that 99 percent of all leadership occurs not from the top but from the middle of an organization. Usually, an organization has only one person who is the leader. So what do you do if you are not that one person?

 \dots the number one misconception [] about leadership, [] would be the belief that leadership comes simply from having a position or title.
